A Growing Region

The Sacramento region's six counties, situated at the intersection of Interstate 80 and Interstate 5, are well situated for long term growth already amassing over 2.6 million residents. The Sacramento metro area has seen major net migration and a growing population over the last decade but especially over the last 3 years while many major markets have recorded population declines.

Why does the Sacramento region rank in the top 5 areas for net population inflow in the nation? Simply due to affordability, millennials and transplants from higher cost, usually coastal cities are able to become homeowners with a median home price of $625,000 which is comparable to Denver, CO and Austin, TX but well below San Francisco at $1.5mm.

Approximately half of the Greater Sacramento population has a 4 year degree in either Science, technology, engineering or math (STEM) ranking the area top 3 in the West just behind Seattle, WA and San Francisco, CA. The Greater Sacramento has more than 718,000 students enrolled in two- and four-year universities within 100 miles, making it one of the best areas in the country to operate a business.
